Probability Of Big Four Meeting Nears Decision

United Nations Circles See
Decision Within Next
Three Or Four Days

TUESDAY SESSION TO BE INDICATION

By PIERRE J. HUSS,
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.,
Feb. 5.—United Nations circles are convinced today that the next three or four days will decide whether or not a meeting of the Big Four is possible.

U. N. officials and delegates alike privately believe that the prospects for a Big Four talk have faded. Russia immediately will accuse the United States and Britain of worsening the international atmosphere.

Opportunity Tuesday

An opportunity for Soviet delegate Yakov A. Malik to press one way or another on the question of a four-power conference presents itself next Tuesday afternoon. At that time, the Security Council convenes to consider the General Assembly resolution on arms curtailment and atom control.

Up to the present, Malik has kept singularly silent on the exchange of communications between Stalin and L.N.S. European Manager Kingsbury Smith. The Soviet delegate also has declined comment on the subsequent statements by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

A report from Moscow alleging that Stalin is willing to meet with the heads of France, Britain and the U. S. was given weight at Lake Success.

Cause For Anxiety

One cause for anxiety is the pessimistic note contained in reports from the committee of neutral currency experts endeavoring to draft an agreed Berlin currency plan at Geneva. Although this group was expected to report to the Security Council by the end of January, all indications are that there is complete stalemate.

The third reason for concern at U. N. lies in the growing indication that Russia may challenge the validity of regional pacts, such as the North Atlantic Alliance, in the Security Council.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The Moscow correspondent of the Soviet News Agency ADY reported today that Premier Stalin may be prepared to hold discussions with President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and French Premier Queuille.

(An identical report was made from Moscow yesterday by Reuters, the British News Agency, but subsequently was dubbed, in Moscow cables, as "mere speculation.")

Snow shoveling has been a light task for householders during the present winter. Only on a few occasions has it been necessary to shovel snow off the walks and driveways. A few years ago, in that memorable winter that brought snow from December 11, almost daily for two months or more, snow shoveling was a regular daily pastime in the city.

Two Hard Coal Miners Caught Under Debris

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Two hard coal miners, father and son, were buried alive today when the shaft of their small independent mine at nearby Hickory Ridge collapsed.

Police said rescuers pulled 22-year-old Joseph Pochekailo from the pit at 11:15 a.m., but the youth's father, Alexander, 62, was still entombed 20 feet below the surface.

Volunteer rescuers said the elder miner could be heard moaning beneath the fallen debris. Young Pochekailo was trapped nearly two hours before fellow-miners reached him. He apparently escaped serious injury, according to police.

The pair were the only miners working at the time of the collapse. The pit is located several hundred yards from the Pochekailo home, near Shamokin.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Webster Hall, one of New York City's historic landmarks, was seriously damaged today by a five-alarm fire.

Fear Avalanche Took Three Lives

OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 5.—(INS)—A snow avalanche which buried three Union Pacific railroad workers, was believed today to have carried them to their deaths in Cutler dam reservoir.

Union Pacific authorities at Ogden identified the missing men as track foreman H. J. Rush, 42, and brakeman James A. Moran, 35, both of Salt Lake City, and brakeman Walter Rodgers, 37, of Midvale, Utah.

Officials said the men were trapped by a snowslide during a blizzard last night while inspecting snow-blocked rail tracks at Bear River, 46 miles north of Ogden. The storm prevented searches from locating the men.

Would-Be-Killer Of Shah Of Iran Beaten To Death

TEHERAN, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The would-be assassin of the Shah of Iran was dead today as the result of injuries received in a severe beating by an irate mob.

Martial law was clamped over Tehran and surrounding provinces following the unsuccessful assassination attempt.

The Shah, 29-year-old Riza Pahlavi, was hit in the back and lip when the assassin, a journalist identified as Fakhr Rai, fired several shots at close range. The Iranian ruler was only slightly injured.

Rai was said to have died in a Tehran hospital last night. He was set upon by a crowd present when the shooting occurred. The attack occurred as the Shah was distributing prizes to university students.

They were whisked from Washington National Airport—which is in Virginia—to Alexandria, Fredericksburg and Richmond within hours of their weather-delayed arrival aboard a military air transport plane.

Will Still Need Congress Action For War Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Capitol Hill leaders were assured today that the proposed North Atlantic alliance will not commit the United States to wage war without a congressional resolution called for in the constitution.

These assurances have been given over the past two days to senate and house leaders.

The pact is expected to be formalized in the next week. Thereafter a time is to be set at which the foreign ministers of the powers involved—the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—will affix their signatures to the historic document.

SNOWBOUND RESIDENTS AND LIVESTOCK PUSHED

DENVER, Feb. 5.—(INS)—New snow storms beset portions of the blizzard-swept western plains and mountain states today.

History's largest mass bulldozer operation and feedlight flights continued in the Army's and Air Force's all-out battle to free snowbound residents and livestock.

Meanwhile, heavy snow fell over western Utah and eastern Nevada and blizzard conditions were reported in northwestern Montana.

The sorely-beset livestock range country expected new snow tonight in northern and western Wyoming and in western South Dakota and Nebraska. The fall was expected to extend into Kansas.

Body Of Missing Ambridge Girl Found On Friday

Remains Of 15-Year-Old
Margaret Bankowski
Found About Three Miles From Home

REPORT EVIDENCE OF HARD STRUGGLE

(BULLETIN)

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Police conducted a determined hunt today for an apparent sex maniac who beat to death a 15-year-old girl, savagely slashed her face and body and left his victim in a teen-agers' "lovers' lane."

The slain girl was Margaret Bankowski, Ambridge high school sophomore. Police said her right ear had been slashed or ripped off. Laboratory tests were made to learn if she was raped.

The body of the girl was found Thursday by William B. Snyder of Aliquippa, while he was walking his dogs.

Aliquippa police said they will question schoolmates of the girl in the hope of finding some clue to her slayer.

Her frozen and badly-beaten body was found Friday, half-buried in snow on a slag dump three miles from her home. Margaret had been missing since Jan. 26.

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Aliquippa police were awaiting laboratory tests today to determine whether 15-year-old Margaret Bankowski, whose brutally beaten body was found on a slag dump three miles from her home, had been criminally attacked.

The beaten and scratched body of the Ambridge high school sophomore was found Friday by William B. Snyder of Aliquippa, while he was out walking his dogs.

The steel worker told police he found the body about 50 feet from a private road in the South Heights district, just across the Ohio river from the girl's home in Economy village, Ambridge. The section is known as a teen-agers' "lovers' lane."

Dr. T. W. McCreary of nearby Monaca, Beaver county pathologist, described a three-and-half inch gash over the right eye and body scratches, which police said indicate the teen-age girl had put up a terrific struggle before she died.

Missing Since January 26
Dr. McCreary said he thought the death weapon was either a tire iron or possibly a sledge hammer. Tests were also being made on bits of skin and hair found under the girl's finger nails.

Margaret had been missing since Wednesday, January 26, when she left the home of a schoolmate to visit the home of another. She never arrived at the second friend's home.

Her death was the second brutal murder of a young school girl in the Pittsburgh district in the last two months. Carole Lee Kensing, 12, was stabbed to death in her Brushton district home last December 10. Police have been unable to turn up a clue to her killer.

Snyder said when he first came upon the body of Margaret he thought it was a store dummy someone had discarded. He added: "At first I saw was a pair of legs sticking out of a snow pile."

Report Radio Jammed To Prevent Russians Hearing Of Trial

(BULLETIN)

ROME, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The Vatican radio reported today that its broadcasts to eastern Europe are being jammed, apparently to prevent listeners behind the iron curtain from hearing comments on the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in Budapest.

A spokesman said: "We protest against these uncivil methods which recall too well those used by regimes so incriminated by the very people who today do not hesitate to follow in their footsteps."

"It is not difficult to identify the source of these disturbances," Pope Pius meanwhile was reported deeply shaken when he learned the Hungarian state prosecutor has asked the maximum punishment for the cardinal.

Push Search For Missing Plane And Scientists

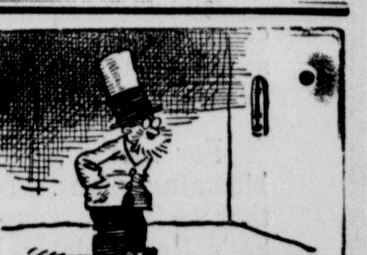

INYOKERN, Cal., Feb. 5.—(INS)—A posse of 50 men pushed into the rugged mountains of Kern county today in an attempt to locate a missing Navy plane carrying five civilian scientists and two Navy pilots.

The plane, which was on a flight from Inyokern to Alameda, disappeared Friday and approximately 70 rescue planes joined efforts to locate the craft, which was believed to have crashed in the canyon area east of Kernville.

Well, the skates are looking better and the sleds are doing fine; the runners look like something new, they're bright and sharp and fine. The kids were almost to the place when they had almost thought the winter would be turned around and turn up warm, or hot. The Chapter Farmer degree was conferred upon Robert Hawthorne, Keith McConnell, Tom Jones, Howard Schooley and Bob Smith from East Brook, and Ronald Cline, Norman Javens, Roy Hermann, James Lester, Glenn Rimbey, Chester Young and Ronald Young from Beaver Falls.

Following the initiation Mercer played Beaver Falls in a basketball game, winning by a score of 18-4. East Brook then played Mercer, defeating them by a score of 44-34. Refreshments were served and the visiting schools were shown through the agricultural room and shop at East Brook. Nick Skalko is the agricultural teacher at Beaver Falls.

NEW DELEGATION SEEKS ARMISTICE IN CHINA WARFARE

Communist onslaught against the Nanking-Shanghai area. The group, composed of seven prominent Shanghai leaders, was formed at Li's unofficial request.

Fears that Communist forces were preparing their expected cross-river attack on central China's two largest cities were provoked by reports on new Red troop movements north of the Yangtze river barrier.

Five Communist columns were reported deployed between Lihuo and Tienchang, 15 and 30 miles north of Nanking, respectively.

Four other columns were moving down the Tientsin Pukow railroad and were reported ready to force a Yangtze river bridgehead near the Grand canal east of the capital.

Will Seek Armistice
The unofficial peace delegation which will attempt to achieve some kind of an armistice is headed by 73-year-old Dr. W. W. Yen, a retired diplomat and a non-partisan in China's confused political picture.

Observers noted that the appointment of the unofficial peace group was Li's first attempt at a new armistice attempt since the Communists failed to respond to his two previous pleas to set up their own peace delegations.

The group is expected to seek an interview with Red Chief Mao Tse-Tung. They will ask him to name his negotiators to talk with the Nationalist peace mission.

been assured that, if one of the signatories of the pact is attacked by an aggressor, all the other members will come automatically to their aid by a declaration of war or "other appropriate measures".

The phraseology follows that set down in the Rio De Janeiro pact for the mutual defense of the Americas. As understood at the time the Rio pact was drafted, the signers are not automatically required to participate by direct military participation.

The congressmen had been apprehensive that the North Atlantic alliance would follow the lines of the Brussels pact, whereby the western union was formed.

I investigated and saw what it was.

One Slim Clue

Police said the body was completely clothed except for the girl's navy-type pea jacket which was found a few feet away. The body was partially covered by snow, and police believe it must have been on the dump for several days.

Police said they had only one slim clue to the girl's killer. That was a report by a bartender, Gus Dillabaugh, employed at the Convict Inn in nearby Wexford, who told police he had refused service to a man and a girl early on the morning of Thursday, January 27, the day after Margaret vanished. He said the girl obviously was too young to serve, and after seeing her picture in a newspaper, said he recognized her as the missing girl.

Dr. McCreary said death was caused by massive fractures of the skull.

Margaret was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zigmund Bankowski of Ambridge. The father is a worker in the Ambridge plant of the A. M. Byers Pipe Co.

Tear Gas Pencils Being Secured For Protection

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Many jittery residents of the Bruston and Homewood districts of Pittsburgh, alarmed by a recent sex slaying and several attempted assaults, are arming themselves with a tear gas pencil for protection.

The manufacturer of the weapon today said more than 80 per cent of recent sales have been in the area in which Carol Lee Kensington, 12, was brutally stabbed more than a month ago.

The pencil discharges enough tear gas to overcome an adult for half an hour.

The sex slaying of Margaret Bankowski, 15, of Ambridge, whose beaten body was found near Aliquippa Friday, may cause another boom in sales, the manufacturer said.

TWO SMOKE CALLS

Firemen answered two alarms late Friday, which proved to be smoke scares. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink stated today.

The first, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, called firemen to the place of Felix Conti, at 404 E. Long avenue, where it was found the chimney was clogged, causing smoke to fill the place.

At 9:40 o'clock, Fourth ward firemen were summoned to the apartment house at 409 Hutchman street, where a piece of wood was found smoldering in back of the furnace. There was no damage.

The first ring-neck pheasants were imported in 1790 by an Englishman who married the daughter of Benjamin Franklin.

BOY SCOUT WEEK

February 6th to 12th

"The great need in the world today is for a spiritual crusade to make practical religion dynamic in the affairs of man. I believe that Scouting through its oath and law provides that opportunity. The Boy Scouts of America stands solidly behind the religious leaders of all faiths in their efforts to have every youth live his duty to God, country and neighbor. If this world is going to be saved—if we are going to have world peace—it will come through our ability to train youth in those spiritual dynamics which will carry over in a practical way into good citizenship and good will toward man."

Speakers Discuss Positions Available For Home Economics Trained Women

Another step forward in the vocational guidance program at New Castle senior high school was realized Friday.

Ten members of the Lawrence County council of home economics women presented to the home economics students of the school a word picture of 10 different jobs available to home economics trained women.

Recently a representative of Drexel Institute in Philadelphia was brought here to talk to these same girls about a future in home economics. In the speech of the visiting lecturer, 10 various jobs for girls with this type training were mentioned. The Friday meeting at the school was a follow-up to discuss these positions in detail.

The speakers were either people currently engaged in the occupation of which they were talking or those who have done vast amounts of research to present a full and complete picture of the type of work she was discussing. Prime considerations of the students were openings, future, salary and work interest. Each speaker gave the complete details on these particular points.

It is anticipated that some of the students will have the opportunity to work with ladies in New Castle actively engaged in a profession requiring home economics training.

Miss Ruth Wallace, member of the high school faculty and of the Home Economics council, was in charge of the program.

LOOKING AT THE INDEXES

In a general way the public knows what is happening to prices long before the news is confirmed by indexes. That is because it takes time to assemble the data and get it into shape. The barometers are worth watching, though, because they help to correct wrong impressions even if the readings are weeks old when they are published.

For example, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that consumer prices are in their first sustained decline for a decade. As of last December 15, all consumer prices were down to an index figure of 171.4, based on the 1935-39 average at 100, as compared to 175.5 on last September 15.

That does not seem like much of a drop. Probably most people have had the notion that consumer prices fell further than that during the three-month period. But the explanation is that food prices accounted for most of it. They went down from 215.2 on last September 15 to 205 on December 15. For most other things they buy, consumers were paying about as much in mid-December as in mid-September.

Readings for January 15 may show a different picture. Food prices have still slid more and, in addition, so-called "soft goods" such as men's shirts and women's dresses have been offered at reductions. Some "hard goods," among them electrical appliances, have also been available for less.

What is revealed by the December 15 indicator is the effect of last year's harvest. What is about to be revealed is the effect of production catching up with demand in some lines. It would be a mistake, nevertheless, to conclude that an avalanche of price-cutting has begun.

SOMETHING ABOUT KNOCKS

The knock you hear in your automobile engine is simply wasted energy crying out to be put to work. So says V. L. Nicolayevitch, Yugoslav engineer, who spoke at an automobile show in New York the other day.

Some day, Nicolayevitch thinks, the problem will be solved. Fuels with high octane ratings already use some of the power formerly wasted, he points out, but the big problem is to devise stronger metals that will put gasoline energy to work instead of letting it go to waste making unpleasant sounds. When that problem is solved, he foresees engines "that will exceed public imagination."

As a good engineer, Nicolayevitch was sticking to technology and its problems. But there is an allergy in what he said. Not all the knocks we hear come from automobile engines.

The United Nations appears to be knocking badly. The knocks of inflation and labor trouble—among others—are loud in the United States. Family life in many a home knocks so plainly that divorce begins to seem a lesser evil.

These knocks, too, represent wasted energy. If we can put them to work we can make possible a world that exceeds the imagination. Do we fail because we are cast for weak metal? Or do we need a social engineer to tell us how to make every knock a boost.

SECOND THOUGHT

Last June the U. S. Supreme Court decided, 5 to 4, that a Lockport, N. Y., ordinance against operating a sound truck without a permit was unconstitutional. And now the court—again 5 to 4—has ruled that Trenton, N. J., has a right to restrict the use of sound trucks.

The court's second thought is the result of Chief Justice Vinson shifting from a pro-sound truck to an anti-sound truck stand. Justices Frankfurter, Reed, Burton and Jackson—dissenters in June—stuck to their guns to constitute four-fifths of the new majority. The four who joined Vinson in the June decision are still pro-sound truck. But the chief justice has reconsidered.

The majority opinion this time made a weak attempt to prove that the two cases were not similar, but failed to make the difference clear. Trenton, it pointed out, has about 125,000 people compared to Lockport's 25,000, so the unpleasant effects would reach more people. The Lockport ordinance, moreover, was too vague.

These distinctions lay down no clear rule for other cities to follow, particularly cities whose population is more than 25,000 but less than 125,000. Of course, all cities can try to avoid vagueness in their official language.

CHILDREN ARE WILLING

Six junior high school students debated before a New York audience of 500 the other evening the question: "How Much Freedom Should Children Be Given?" It was agreed that children should be permitted to make all decisions about their daily activities and that parental advice was something to be heeded. But the consensus was that children should have a say about some things. "Sometimes we can be right, too," one girl asserted.

There you have it. Children are amenable to discipline if the parents have the gumption to know how to apply it and still keep the respect of the children. The fine point is in telling the children what to do in a way that appeals to their intelligence as reasonable. It's a tough job, but there are the children, ready and willing. And if the parent feels he is failing, he might take an inventory of his methods.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The keen analytical mind of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty was credited today with dealing to the people's tribunal of Budapest a first-class surprise which conceivably might change the whole course of his trial on treason charges.

When the indictment first was handed down, Catholic and other observers throughout the world almost took for granted that the proceedings would be cut and dried.

The high Hungarian prelate's alleged confession was regarded as a project of forgery or duress and it was assumed that he would make his appearance drugged or intimidated, ready to receive whatever punishment was meted out to him.

But Mindszenty confounded everyone by admitting most of the activities and "deeds" charged against him.

Denies Any Treason

And he stoutly denied, with all the persuasion and logic of his high intellect, that these acts in themselves constituted in any manner treason against the Hungarian dictatorship, or democracy as communist boss, Matyas Rakosi prefers to call it.

The effect of this strategy at the moment seems to place a burden of proof upon the court that may not have been anticipated at all.

The government is placed in a position of proving that the actions meant treachery from the outset.

But the gifted cardinal, with a philosophical reminder that nothing in the world is changeless, explained that at the time when the east and west first split and new wars were inevitable, he laid a plan for the salvation of Hungary and all of eastern Europe.

Foreseeing defeat of Soviet communism under the mighty hammerblows from the west, he conceived the idea of maintaining the integrity of Hungary and eastern Europe amid chaos by reviving the Hapsburg dynasty, with the Archduke Otto, legal claimant, ruling over vast domains and ensuring religious and other freedoms of the people among inevitable anarchy.

Hungary itself would have been occupied by American troops as an interim safeguard after this supposed end of world war and the cardinal would have served as prince-regent if necessary until all arrangements could be made for the restoration.

May Knock Props Out

To what extent this may knock the props out from under the government's case remains to be seen.

Cardinal Mindszenty has admitted many times in the past that he opposed the government's nationalization of church property and schools.

But this was opposed by the Vatican as well and the mere obduracy of a high prelate to orders from the Holy See hardly can constitute treason or a conspiracy.

There is no question but that Rakosi and his hard-pick court have been maneuvered into an awkward position for the present at least.

In its almost unprecedented prosecution of the cardinal the government faces two factors of

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEEN-AGER WHO HAS A JOB

The child who has had good practice at operating on an allowance for a number of years has had good training for using his money well when he begins to earn.

Many boys and girls have part time jobs while in high school or earlier. Should they still receive an allowance? If what they earn is less than the allowance they had been receiving they certainly should have at least the difference.

In order to encourage their finding a part time job and sticking to it, a little more than the difference might well be warranted. Or if the earnings were practically all saved for a worthy purpose, as for going to college, the regular allowance might well be continued.

Budget Earnings

Suppose the part time earnings greatly exceed the former allowance. Then you should try to induce the child to budget his earnings about as his allowance had been budgeted with very little more in it for mere pleasure (pocket money). In some instances the parents, if they still have sufficient control should require him to save a regular portion of his part time earnings. Some such guidance may be especially desirable in case there is a brother or sister on an allowance.

Suppose your teen-age child has just begun at full time employment. Less than a century ago the child till he was about twenty-one usually paid in all his earnings to his parents and they gave back to him only as much of it to spend as they saw fit, often very little. Today the pendulum has swung to the opposite extreme. The typical earning youth not only keeps all he earns to do with as he pleases, but he also may live at home without helping with the housework or paying for board or for washing or tailoring. And his parents may buy his clothes and cigarettes for him and the gas for his car, pay for his repairs and insurance, or even buy him a car. Still this youth may usually be "broke." What kind of preparation is such for economic independence and responsibility for family life? Somewhere between these two extremes lies a reasonable ground.

Economic Independence

Help the youth to gain economic independence. If he is employed and lives with the family let him pay board and his portion of the wages of the laundress. Otherwise let him send his laundry out. If the daughter wishes to do her own washing and tailoring, very well. Certainly the mother should be neither laundress nor tailor for the child.

Stalin Repeats Old Answers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—There is something comic about the reaction in this country to the answers that Marshal Stalin sent to a newspaperman's inquiries about whether Russia wants peace. Even behind the grim, closely guarded walls of the Kremlin in Moscow it must cause some laughter.

The headlines, the speculation, the statements and the denials go on and on, and all over an old routine repeated several times in the past. At least twice before Stalin has given almost identical answers to similar questions.

The soft answers previously given have not brought any change in the harsh conduct of the cold war against the west carried out under Stalin's direction. All this seems to be forgotten in the current furor.

In my opinion the press, or a section of it, has a great deal to answer for in this connection. Consider the irony of it.

The questions were submitted to Stalin by Kingsbury Smith, general manager in Europe of the International News Service. That means he is the chief representative in Europe of William Randolph Hearst. Thus, it is thanks in the first instance to the Hearst press that Stalin's propaganda is given circulation throughout the world.

At the same time the Hearst press, along with the McCormick-Patterson newspapers and other allies, is pouncing on the new secretary of state, Dean Acheson, for the slightest suspicion of "appeasement" of Russia. And if nothing suspicious can be found, it is not beyond some to invent suspicions.

WASHINGTON—Labor Secretary Tobin: "No president of the United States is going to permit the economy of this nation to be brought to its knees in a national crisis."

ALBANY, N. Y.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey: "The so-called trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty is merely a mock formality, an insult to religion and a cruel parody of justice."

BUDAPEST—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty: "I cannot accept the conclusions drawn from these deeds as a plot to overthrow the democratic regime of the Hungarian government."

NEW YORK—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina: "We are supposed to have religious tolerance in this country. This business of showing how many Jews live in which block doesn't appeal to me a bit."

From Me To You

What's wrong with motion pictures? Such questions you hear here and there. And like all such questions there are two sides to hear before you make up your mind on a definite conclusion. . . . one reason that so many seem to be against the movies and especially the people who make them and act in them could be . . . over publicity. Every time a movie personality gets a little out of line, the unfavorable publicity gives the entire industry a black eye. . . . yet, if a school teacher goes wrong or a preacher steals his church's money. . . . the public are not prone to condemn the entire profession. . . . Could be that the reason we do condemn the movie people is because they make so very much money each year. . . . People who make big money seem to command a certain bit of awe.

Public opinion seems to be. . . . movies are not as good as they used to be. Could be. . . . but back in the twenties we had the "Iron Man" and other spooky pictures. . . . Some people dislike the word "Blood" in the titles of their pictures. . . . If the operas were ever portrayed on the screen in their entirety and true form. . . . people would really shudder. . . . many operas have very horrid endings. . . . Firey furnace, etc.

What's wrong with these pictures. . . . Prospect For Truman Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.

APPARENTLY the literary artists who wrote Mr. Truman's message for him put in everything they could think of. Certainly it bulged bigger with recommendations and proposals than any that can be recalled. But that was natural enough, for Mr. Truman, in his campaign, promised more things to more people than any presidential candidate ever heard of.

THE question now is: How many of these pledges is he really going to try to redeem and how fully? Perhaps they are wrong, but the belief is strong among those close to him that most of his so-called program will be adopted about as he wants it. It will not be, informed men say, 100 per cent. No president ever achieves 100 per cent, but it will not be too far off. They also think it is going to be done swiftly.

THEY base these convictions upon the following: (1) His unexpected victory plus the fact that he will be President, in his own right, for four years gives him a political prestige and power in Congress he utterly lacked before; (2) the Democrats have the votes in both House and Senate; (3) the committee chairmen are nearly all Administration men eager to aid; (4) the Democrats are far more closely in tune with the White House than before; (5) Vice President Barkley, as the presiding officer of the Senate, and the President's close and able friend, Leslie Biffle, its secretary, are an extraordinarily effective and potent pair; (6) the Republicans are not entirely united; (7) resistance to the spending, involved in most of the Truman proposals, has weakened; (8) on nearly everything, the labor and farm lobbies will co-operate and support.

UNDOUBTEDLY, this is an impressive list. It would seem to mean that in a fairly short time the Taft-Hartley Act will be replaced by an utterly inadequate substitute which gives no protection to the national interests and removes all curbs to labor abuse; the civil-rights program jammed through, despite the furiously protesting South; the Social Security System vastly expanded; the first steps taken in the socialization of medicine; Federal housing and Federal education bills enacted. That is the prospect, but, as the late Lew Dockstader used to say, "it just ain't necessarily so." There are a good many things that can happen to make this list of reasons less formidable. Calculations in regard to legislation, such as are above presented, often have a way of falling apart.

FOR example, already there appears a slight rift in the harmony between the President and the CIO bosses, who, though they violently opposed his nomination and bitterly disparaged him personally, now assume all the credit for his election. There is reason to believe they have been demanding a little too much of Mr. Truman, pressing him a little too hard. And it is encouraging to note that Mr. Truman is showing some slight signs of resentment. There is a possibility here of a break in the Administration phalanx that would affect results on more than one issue. And, human nature being what it is, there are other possibilities.

HOWEVER, it must be admitted the odds favor the program and among the presidential strategists confidence in their ability to drive it through is firm. In this connection it is interesting to note that no plan exists for giving reality to the two most sensational suggestions in the Truman message: First, that the Government put itself in position to engage in the steel business "in event of emergency"; second, the so-called "Bold New Plan" for developing the "backward areas" of the world. The first of these emanated from Mr. Leon Keyserling, left-wing member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. It does not have the endorsement of Dr. Edward Nurse, president of the council, but was startling in that it seemed a sudden move in the direction of the nationalization of industry. It now seems that there was no force behind this suggestion, that it was intended, perhaps, to frighten the United States Steel Company and please the CIO. Mr. Murray, but otherwise is to be allowed to lapse.

AS for the "Bold New Plan," full credit for that noble notion is given Mr. Clark Clifford, close Missouri friend of Mr. Truman and counsel to the President. According to sympathetic "liberal" columnists, the "Bold New Plan" just seemed a good thing to propose at the time and it did reap considerable favorable publicity. But, it is said, nothing will come of it—and nothing was meant to. Even the elegant and eloquent explanations of Secretary of State Acheson leave it in an extremely nebulous state. It is not unusual for Presidents to throw out in messages and addresses grandiose and impractical ideas about which they have no serious intention or convictions. However, it is somewhat unique to have two such ideas in the same document. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

State Police Say:

Death After Dark—might well be the name of a mystery story, but there is no mystery as to the reason why 60 per cent of all persons killed in automobile accidents meet death during the hours of darkness, when there is normally only about 25 per cent of a day's total traffic on the roads. Dusk, darkness and fatigue are the allies of accidents.

Bethel Baptist To Mark Milestone

Sunday, February 6, marks the first anniversary of Bethel Baptist church, Cunningham avenue. The first Sunday of February, 1948 was the first Sunday of this new venture in New Castle. Prior to that date it was the First Hungarian Baptist church of New Castle, but due to many moving and other facts it was deemed wise to change over to an English speaking church.

Bethel rejoices in the accomplishments of the past year. Many blessings have been ours and we could only enumerate a few here. Bible school attendance has averaged 81 for the past year. There have been seven baptisms and 24 additions to the church with about 12 on the waiting list.

Financial status of the church has been fine. The congregation maintains a full-time pastor, Rev. Earl E. Collins, has redecorated the interior, replaced the old heating system with an automatic oil system, and on top of this gave about $1,200 to missions.

The outlook for the coming year looks well with a prospective list of approximately 150 and 200, and new people coming from time to time. The church is in process of incorporation as the Bethel Baptist.

Ellwood City Youth At Harmony Church

Church Page Les Baptist Youth Fellowship of Harmony Baptist church will have a special service Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the church. The Newman Girls and a sextet from Y. A. C. of Ellwood City will offer appropriate selections. Miss Donna Tillia, advisor of the newly-reorganized Harmony Baptist Y. F., will serve as leader for Sunday's meeting. The group is showing progress spiritually and is also increasing in number.

Dr. Galbreath To Start Youth Series

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath will begin an important series of lectures Sunday evening at the Westminster Fellowship service of the First Presbyterian church. The first of the four lectures on the Bible to be given Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock, will treat on the "Story of the Beginnings."

Invitations have been extended to other youth groups about the city to join in this special series of talks. The series will continue through February.

A light lunch will follow the sing-spiration period after which the family groups will be divided in a child story-telling group; a youth group and four discussion groups. At the conclusion of this period, the entire church will convene for a brief worship service. The new program is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. and conclude at 8 p.m.

EDENBURG CHURCH TO HEAR SPEAKER

In the absence of Rev. Harry L. Johnston, who is vacationing in Florida, Rev. Henry Payden will preach Sunday at the Edenburg Methodist church. Rev. Payden will also present his quartet from the St. Paul's Baptist church.

Do not scold your children before outsiders. It is bad manners on your part, and most humiliating to them.

Band-tailed pigeons are not wary except when actively hunted. They are gregarious and gather in tremendous flocks except in the mating season.

son or daughter who is employed, or who is still in high school. When she slaves for these children and they give her little or no help she does them serious moral harm. Why should an employed youth receive any subsidy for clothes, gas and the like from his parents? If he is sure he must have a car, let him wait till he has enough money saved to finance its purchase and maintenance himself and to pay the insurance on it. Refuse to sign permission for him to run or own a car until these conditions are assured. There may, of course, be worthy exceptions.

It is wonderful if you can encourage effectively the earning youth to budget his earnings and set aside regular savings each pay day. While there may be some extreme cases where parents would if necessary, attach a youth's wages for his protection and that of the community, forceful measures rarely would be advisable beyond requiring pay for board and the like. Of course, some frugal, enterprising youths might profit morally from subsidy by parents. Nearly always reasonable parental subsidy for further education is desirable.

Last Of Old Indian Scouts Hunting Job At Age Of 93 Years

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5.—(INS)—The last of the old Indian scouts with Buffalo Bill in 1876, Ben Buffalo, is 93 and looking for a job. Ben, a U. S. Army scout in the 1870's, who rode by the side of the immortal Buffalo Bill Cody, has filed his claim in Ohio for unemployment compensation benefits.

Probably the oldest man ever to file a claim, Ben is eligible for benefits because his most recent employer's main base of operations was in Ohio. The old scout spends his "off season" in Iroquois, Ill. When Custer fell in the battle of the Little Big Horn, Ben was scouting Indians in the vicinity. He scouted for the British during the Boer War here, South Africa, and went with the Tommies to India.

After serving in the Cuban Army, he toured Europe with Buffalo Bill's wild west show. For the past years Ben has worked with circuses.

Two Are Killed In Auto-Gas Truck Crash In Ohio

FLAT ROCK, Mich., Feb. 5.—(INS)—An auto-gas truck collision took the lives of two Toledo, O. residents and turned a section of a Michigan highway into a blazing inferno Friday.

State police said the 10,000-gallon gas tanker clipped power poles and caught fire after colliding with the automobile on Telegraph road, near Flat Rock, Mich. Traffic was blocked for more than four hours. And electricity to nearby Carleton, Mich., was cut off for several hours.

Police said James T. Colbert, 24-year-old driver of the car, and a passenger, Dorothy Easterly, 24, both of Toledo, were fatally injured when thrown from the auto. Three other passengers in the car were seriously injured. They were identified as Colbert's mother, Mrs. Edna Miles, 47; Mrs. Fern Easterly, 21; sister-in-law of the dead girl, and Otis Mack, 23, all of Toledo, O. The only person to escape injury was 20-month-old Charlotte Colbert.

The injured truck driver, 23-year-old Donald E. Gnepper, of Fremont, O., told police in Montrose, Mich., that slippery pavement on the Toledo-Detroit highway caused the accident.

CLAIMS 270 DESCENDANTS
ROCKWOOD, Pa., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Even the little old woman who lived in the shoe didn't have anything on Mrs. Eliza Sheeler.

Mrs. Sheeler, who celebrated her 98th birthday in Rockwood recently, claims to have at least 270 descendants over a span of four generations.

"That count was made several years ago and there must be at least 25 or 30 more of them by now," she said.

Mrs. Sheeler's "last count" showed that she had as descendants: 10 children, 42 grandchildren, 175 great-grandchildren and 43 great-great-grandchildren.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

"Travelling" As a Rainy Day Activity

Travelling by your own fire can be a fine pastime for a rainy day. When the children are tired of their usual games and you'd like to put aside your book or take a rest from your housework, cast yourself in the role of a travel director.

Very little preparation is needed. A few good maps, or magazines with articles on travel, or an encyclopedia—adult or child version and you're all set.

If the children are older and have been on trips they will find it fun to recall things that happened. If not, you may have to do more of the trip-directing yourself.

Younger children will enjoy using their toy autos or trains to follow the route, which might be sketched on large pieces of wrapping paper. As you move along, you can describe what you are "seeing," using not only pictures that may fit but also your own imagination.

Children in the pre-teen years may want to sketch some of the things they would expect to see on a trip or model them in clay. For the older youngsters, activity probably will consist largely of discussion of the sort of things they would like to see and do on such a trip as the family is taking in imagination.

State Liquor Profits Highest During 1948

Financial Report Of State Liquor
Control Board For 1948
Is Presented

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The 1948 financial report of the State Liquor Control board showed today that net profits reached the highest in the agency's history despite a decline in dollar sales volume.

The report disclosed that the state controlled liquor monopoly realized $38,481,663 net profit from sales of distilled spirits and wines in 1948. The commonwealth's 10 per cent tax—reduced an additional $18,908,397, boosting the total return to $57,390,060.

The report did not take into account unreported funds collected by the Revenue department from the beer tax.

Total dollar sales volume for 1948, including the 10 per cent tax, amounted to $208,172,473, in comparison with $208,390,184 in the preceding year. The highest dollar sales volume in the board's history was recorded in 1946 when it totaled $234,300,832.

A sharp increase in gallonage sales of wine more than offset a slight decline in similar sales of distilled spirits, according to the report.

Sales of distilled spirits dropped 1.6 per cent in 1948 to 9,860,096 gallons, while wine increased 18 per cent to a total of 9,225,362 gallons, the board said.

Funds returned to municipalities in 1948 also increased during the year. Such payments amounted to $5,677,800 compared with $5,619,704 in 1947, according to the board.

Over 4300 Pennsylvania Communities Are Served Only By Motor Trucks

More and more people are making their homes in rural communities, away from the hurly-burly of the cities. They can do it in safety now, for the motor trucks will serve them just as efficiently as though they lived half a block from the public square in town.

There are over 9,300 communities in Pennsylvania. Of this number, over 4,300 are served exclusively by motor trucks. They are connected with the cities by concrete ribbons and over these ribbons flow their milk, their coal, their newspapers, their clothing, oh just everything they eat or use or wear.

Live in a small community if you wish. None of them are isolated any more. Motor trucks give them the same service the folks in the cities get.

Catholic Veterans To Form Auxiliary

To Carry On Work Similar To Veterans' Group; To Select Officers February 18

An excellent turnout was noted at the meeting of the New Castle Catholic War Veterans Auxiliary group which was officially organized Friday evening. The meeting was in St. Vitus church hall, at 7:30 o'clock, with Commander Edward DeCarbo in charge.

Chaplain, Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inneso gave the prayer. He read the constitution and bi-laws of the organization, explaining the purpose of the group and what their responsibilities entailed. The Auxiliary will conduct their own separate meetings and have their own projects, but they will be under the jurisdiction of the Veterans.

Women eligible to join this new Auxiliary are the wives, daughters, mothers and widows of Veterans of World War I and II.

George Scarazzo was in charge of investigating the women's interest in such an organization. On February 18, temporary officers will be elected. Permanent officers will be elected at the third meeting.

Croton Union

Croton W. C. T. U. will meet in the home of Mrs. F. B. Hill, Mulberry street, Tuesday evening, Feb. 8. This is a change from February 15, which was erroneous information given The News originally.

Brooms and brushes should be hung free from the floor, so that their own weight does not bend the bristles and wear them out by spoiling their brushing surfaces. A row of hooks can be put up in the most suitable place for keeping mops and brooms.

Future Farmer Week Planned

National Observance To Stress Objectives Has Been Outlined

TWO HUNDRED BELONG IN COUNTY

More than 260,000 farm youths who are members of vocational agriculture classes throughout the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are making plans for the observance of National Future Farmer Week from February 19 to February 26.

Lawrence county has 200 F. F. A. members who are enrolled in the vocational agriculture classes in rural schools of the county who are not only studying better farming methods but are also learning how to be good rural citizens. They will join in this observance.

The week of February 19 to 26 was chosen for the observance because of the fact that George Washington's birthday falls during that period. F. F. A. youths are taking him as their example of American citizenship because of the traits of leadership, he exhibited during his lifetime and for the principals that he lived and fought for. He was also one of America's first scientific farmers and introduced soil conservation practices which American farmers are just beginning to put into general practice.

The Future Farmers of America national camp is located on land that was once farmed by Washington and the Washington grist mill, oldest relic of his occupancy of Mount Vernon is leased by the F. F. A. and kept open to the public.

The F. F. A. motto is "Learning to do, doing to learn; earning to live, living to serve," which they attempt to carry out in their daily conduct.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—This is Hollywood, Mister Jones!

An actor named John Hoyt portrays an Indian boss trader in the film story of Dan Patch, the great harness steed. Hoyt once was one of New York's favorite cafe society entertainers. Before that he made a living teaching history at Groton, swank prep school for Harvard, where his pupils included F. D. Roosevelt's sons.

Dick Foran, son of a former New Jersey senator, was "discovered" by Hollywood, after graduating from Princeton, while working as a detective for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He spends most of his spare time playing the guitar.

Fatty Started Bob
Bob Hope got his first real vaudeville break when the late Fatty Arbuckle gave him a hoofing spot in a Cleveland burlesque. Bobby-sox idol Marshall Thompson, who started out to become a preacher, tours California high schools regularly and speaks to the kids on their responsibility in the world today.

Richard Basehart, another current Bobby-Sox hero, once was a reporter in Zanesville, Ohio, but gave it up as "too rugged" after being assigned to a particularly bloody murder.

Robert Preston's stand-in, his brother Frank, gets mobbed in public by autograph hounds more than Bob.

Tough Breaks
Lucille Ball once was paralyzed from the hips down after an automobile accident and medics predicted she never would walk again. Ann Blyth once suffered a broken back in a toboggan smash.

DEATH PENALTY
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Quarter Session Judge Charles I. Guerin on Friday imposed the death sentence on James Smith, 23, confessed slayer of John J. Haines, 29-year-old cab driver.

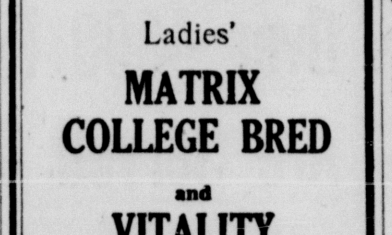

The killing took place on January 15, 1948 during an attempted robbery near the South Philadelphia wharf. Smith pleaded guilty last September but the case was delayed pending psychiatric investigation.

Will Tighten Secrecy Over Atomic Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(INS)—The cloak of secrecy over the nation's atomic program appears likely today to be drawn tighter rather than loosened.

The idea of telling the world the size of America's stockpile hit formidable snags in its first trial airing on Capitol Hill. Two powerful Democratic senators called for the "screening" by some other authority of reports of the atomic energy commission. One of them declared that a report issued last week gave useful information to a potential enemy.

The initial test of an open atomic policy advocated by Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chairman of the congressional atomic committee, came in the committee's first public hearing ever held to receive a commission report.

Sens. Tydings (D) Md., and Connally (D) Tex., demanded airtight secrecy on the rate of atomic production. They got the backing today of Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, former committee chairman.

Hickenlooper said: "I think it is advisable that we do not make public the number of our bombs at this time. The knowledge would not help us, and might be most helpful indeed to some other nation."

Tydings, who is Senate armed services chairman, accused the commission of having erred by publishing an aerial photograph of a Brookhaven laboratory project in its public report. He said it would tell potential enemy bombers where to strike.

Tydings said that "we had to go to telephone directors" to locate strategic German plants for bombing in World War II.

The Maryland senator proposed that further atomic reports be "screened" by the military and by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Connally, who is Senate Foreign Relations Chairman, scored the commission for what he termed "running to the press" with reports on atomic progress—particularly the one which led to headlines labeling the substantial improved weapon as a "superbomb."

SOME ANSWERS ABOUT WEDDINGS

Question: When should the bride's face veil be lifted and by whom?

Answer: A front veil is worn over the bride's face until the completion of the ceremony. It is lifted back by the maid-of-honor when she gives the bride's bouquet to her at the end of the ceremony.

Question: Who selects the wedding attendants—maid-of-honor, bridesmaids, best man and ushers?

Answer: The bride selects her maid- or matron-of-honor and bridesmaids. The groom selects his best man and ushers, who may be relatives of his or the bride's or merely friends. Usually he selects his brother for best man and his closest friends for ushers, one of whom is a brother or cousin of the bride. The bride, in return, chooses the groom's sister or fond cousin to be one of her bridesmaids.

Question: If a bride at an informal wedding is to have no attendants—bridesmaids or maid-of-honor, must the groom have a best man, nevertheless?

Answer: Usually, no matter how small the wedding may be, the groom has his best man and the bride her maid- or matron-of-honor, but unless your church requires witnesses to make the marriage valid, you may, if you wish, eliminate both. But such a marriage is very rare, indeed.

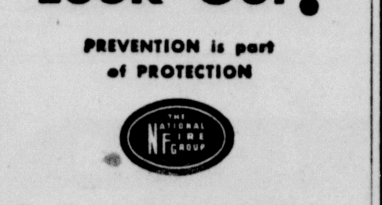

Question: How should wedding invitations be addressed to a family consisting of man, wife and their grown son and daughter?

Answer: A joint invitation should be sent to the man and wife and separate invitations to the son and daughter.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Crops And Soil Program Given

County Farmers Show Interest In Improving Quality Of Soil Here

One of the most interesting programs of the winter season, which are constantly being held under the auspices of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension association, was the crops and soils meeting, conducted in the YMCA on Friday.

At the morning session, Harris McClelland, and Guy Fullerton of North Beaver, and Lloyd Bradley of Hickory township, told of the use of Ladino clover, which was introduced in this section about eight years ago, and has been found useful as a legume, a valuable addition to the hay crop, and also as an aid for pasture in the late summer.

John Benson and George Clark of North Beaver, and Wayne Walker, of Little Beaver, discussed grass silage, which can be used to better advantage now, since newer type machinery has been made available for processing. The speakers spoke of both grass silage and Ladino clover.

At the afternoon meeting, Floyd Byers, Guy Fullerton, and H. L. McCurley of North Beaver, and J. W. Ferris of Wilmington township, told of their use of mow finishers for hay, which have proven very advantageous. These consist of large fans, powered by five horsepower motors, which drive air through the hay in the mow, through ducts, and while not infallible, have proven most beneficial in making a higher quality of hay than through field drying.

Raymond Graham, of Scott township; Given Shaw, of Plaingrove; and Aubrey Reno, of Big Beaver; told of the drainage system installed last spring and how they were able to work fields and grow crops on land they were unable to farm before installation.

Howard Aiken, of Perry township, and John McKee, of North Beaver township, spoke of erosion control work they had instituted on their land at the suggestion of the Extension association, and found great improvements, not only in controlling erosion of the soil, but also in increased production which Mr. McKee stated, was virtually three times as great as before contour planting.

C. B. Patton of Hickory township told of the use of 2-4-D in controlling weeds in corn and oats, which proved very beneficial, but warned against careless use. With proper use, however, he stated that it offered good possibilities in the control of weeds which prove troublesome to farmers.

A. L. Cooper, and George Berggren, extension agronomists of Penn State college, furthered the discussion of these various topics, assisted by Roger Grout, assistant county agent in Northwestern Pennsylvania, giving additional information on these subjects.

Gov. Duff Warns Tax Saturation Is Now Close At Hand

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff's warning that "tax saturation is close at hand" was followed up Friday by another official's plea for a property assessment equalization program which would prove beneficial to the commonwealth.

State Tax Equalization Board Chairman John O'Neill underlined the governor's warning in a speech before the Pennsylvania School Directors and Secretaries' association at Harrisburg.

Equalization of assessments not only would benefit the commonwealth by relieving it of paying excessive subsidies to school districts with the potential finances to underwrite their own expenses, but would solve a recurring biennial problem for the governor and the General Assembly O'Neill asserted.

The board was established by the Assembly in 1947 to survey assessments in political sub-divisions and recommend to the state the true market value of property which would provide a basis for figuring state school subsidies.

Duff told directors and secretaries that the federal government overlapped state government in many fields of taxation and showed a tendency to increase the practice.

Gen. Eichelberger Will Write Book

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, former Eighth Army commander who retired December 31, said today that he is writing a book on his 40 years in the army.

Eichelberger told a reporter that his book will include details on Russian military operations and the Japanese seizure of Eastern Siberia in 1920.

The general's experiences include duty as intelligence officer of a U. S. military mission in Russia immediately following the First World War.

Eichelberger said he has made "no long range plans" about his future activities.

Halt All Freight Traffic Between East, West Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—(INS)—American and British authorities issued an order Friday which will halt all freight traffic between eastern and western Europe through Germany, effective midnight Sunday.

The order specifically calls for an end to freight traffic between the Soviet and western zones of Europe, including transit traffic from countries bordering on either side of the country.

In effect this means that the trickle of traffic between countries on the east of Germany in the Soviet sphere to those countries in the west is forbidden transit through Germany.

Passenger vehicles carrying personal luggage only were exempted from the order.

U. S. Minister To Protest Hungary's Action At Trial

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The State department said today that the U. S. minister to Budapest has been authorized to protest Hungary's refusal to permit American observers at the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty.

Michael J. McDermott, department spokesman, said that this authority had been given to Sheldon Chapin, the American minister, when the trial was coming up.

However, McDermott said that he did not know whether the protest has been lodged yet.

The British have protested the exclusion of their observers from the proceedings and have called attention to the fact that the Hungarian peace treaty guarantees freedom of speech and other liberties.

Several days ago, McDermott said, Chapin reported the legation had been given three tickets which were thought to give admission to the courtroom. However, they were not recognized by court attaches.

Report 700,000 Added To Jobless During January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(INS)—The government reported Friday that 700,000 persons were added to jobless ranks during January, but a top economist asserted this does not mean that a business recession is imminent.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chief of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers, said after a conference with the president that he does not regard the industrial layoffs as "alarming."

Nourse added that declines in food prices do not indicate that a trend is developing which will drag prices to lower levels generally. Mr. Truman conferred with Nourse, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman and other economic advisers. The chief executive received a "briefing" on the present outlook.

Later, Nourse said the administration contemplates no change in its present anti-inflation policy. He explained that this means the president will continue to urge enactment of standby inflation controls. Mr. Truman is expected to submit his specific legislative proposals to Congress next week.

Registration To Continue During Draft Holidays

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—(INS)—State Draft Director Henry M. Gross today said Pennsylvanians would not have to report for physical examination or induction during February and March.

He pointed out the delay, ordered by National Selective Service Headquarters, did not preclude voluntary enlistment.

Registration will continue throughout the draft holiday.

New Castle Loses To Beaver Falls In Overtime 48 To 45

Thrilling Battle Stirs Big Crowd

New Castle High basketball team came within five seconds of beating Beaver Falls last night at the Washington Junior High gym floor.

Leading 41 to 39, with just five seconds left on the clock, it looked as if New Castle would upset the Tigers of Beaver Falls, and win their third section three victory, and then it happened. Joe Kondracki did it with a wild heave as the hands on the clock raced out. The regulation game ended 41-41. In the overtime session New Castle seemed to go to pieces. It wound up 48 to 45 in favor of Beaver Falls.

Don Reed Stars

Again young Don Reed was the big star for the New Castle team, having 18 points to run his section three scoring record to 147 points or 41 points better than Nils Liebenfelder who had 72 last night to add to his 94 points for the runner-up spot.

It was the sixth defeat for New Castle in section three with but two wins. It was the fourth Beaver Falls win against four defeats.

Pandemonium Reigns

Pandemonium reigned in the final few seconds as New Castle looked for a victory. With one minute of the game left New Castle was leading 41 to 38. The lead looked secure. But it wasn't. Carroll made a foul for Beaver Falls at it was 41-39. Then Kondracki was fouled and missed his charity heave. He didn't miss the next shot as he was given the ball and let fly. It landed through the hoops making it 41-41 as the game ended.

In the overtime Beaver Falls shot ahead 43 to 41 then Reed tied it up at 43-43. Kondracki made a field goal for Beaver Falls making it 45 to 43. There was just a minute and 20 seconds left of the three-minute overtime. D'Achille made a field goal for Beaver Falls and there was just a minute and 10 seconds to play. Pavlinich made a foul for Beaver Falls and Reed made a field goal for New Castle as the clock ran out.

Tigers Take Lead

The Tigers wound up a slow first period with a 7 to 4 lead. At the half it was 17 to 11 in favor of the visitors. New Castle took 32 shots at the basket in the first half and made five of them. Beaver Falls took 25 shots and made six of them.

Things picked up in the third period, which ended 28-28 with the teams scoring as many points the third period as they had made the entire first half. It was a ding-dong affair by this time. In the third period New Castle took 13 shots at the basket and made five of them. Beaver Falls took 16 shots and made four of them.

New Castle made 9 out of 17 fouls and Beaver Falls made 12 out of 22 fouls.

At Aliquippa Tuesday

New Castle lost two men on personal fouls. Tom Clarke and Phil Contoli. Beaver Falls lost one man. Carroll, via the personal foul route. Carroll, with 11 points last night, was a great ball player and played an aggressive game all the way. He did young Tom Clarke when he was young. Carroll led the team in scoring with 14 points.

New Castle will play at Aliquippa Tuesday night.

The Eagles, however, came right back in the third period to tie it up at 31 all to start the final stanza.

Shenango racked up 15 points and East Brook could mesh only 11 in that final period which spelled Shenango victory. Bob Smith netted 16 points for the losers to capture individual scoring honors. Johnny Allen had 14 for Shenango. Braatz and Getchey combined to add 21 more. Chuck Duss and John Braatz, starting in place of the injured Ehrheart and McCowin, played outstanding floor games.

Bessemer Legion won its first game in the sectional round-robin tournament prior to the state championship playoffs last night at Beaver Falls. The Bessemer boys succeeded in freezing the ball for over a minute in the final period to eke out a 55-54 win from New Brighton.

Weeb Kurland and Paul Johnson each connected for 18 points in the contest and that was just as close as the final score indicates. Bill Palko played a fine floor game for the winners.

McComb had 16 markers for the New Brighton Legion. The Bessemer quint, which is composed entirely of ex-Bessemer high school players, meets the defending state champions, Beaver Falls, Wednesday night in the second round of tournament play.

WALLY BUTTS DENIES QUITTING RUMOR

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 5.—(INS)—Head football coach Wally Butts of Georgia denies he is planning to resign to become coach of the professional Washington Redskins.

Butts spiked the rumors last night while attending a birthday party in his honor at Milledgeville, but admitted he had received an offer from the Redskins.

Seven was the combined score for the second stanza action. Ellwood did not tally in the period until over 6 and a half minutes had been played.

Carl Mantz had 7 points to be Ellwood's leading scorer, Sonoga and Delise, along with Butchko, had 8 markers apiece for the winners.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SAM SHADE, game protector of Lawrence County, reports that, approximately 75 deer were killed on highways in Lawrence County during 1948. Protector Shade reports there may have been more than 75 killed, but points out that:

All of the carcasses of deer recovered are reported; All of the deer killed are not recovered by the Game commission; Occasionally deer that are killed are turned over to a Game protector of an adjoining county.

It may be worthwhile, Shade reports to state that the reported number of deer killed on the highway does not include the number of deer killed for crop damage or the alarming number of deer (mostly antlerless) that were killed and left, by the hunters in small game season. Shade said it may also be of interest to those who feel that too many of the young bucks are taken during an antlerless deer season, that in 1947, seventy five per cent of all deer killed on highways in Lawrence County were doe deer, and then after having a doe season in the fall of 1947, the exact opposite occurred in 1948, 75 per cent of the deer killed, having been bucks.

Shade also reported the Game commission's winter rabbit trapping campaign is in full progress, the primary purpose being to afford the urban and suburban dwellers relief from damage to flowers, shrubbery and gardens. Local citizens are performing the trapping. They were named by the district game protector.

This year there is an acute scarcity of rabbit traps. Nevertheless, those which were available were proportionately issued to agents in New Castle, New Wilmington and Ellwood City.

So far 100 rabbits have been trapped. Because of the shortage of traps, point the fact that the rabbit population in the city, is at a saturation point, the game protector asks that the traps not be disturbed. To do so is a violation of the game code, and upon conviction thereof, a violator must pay a fine of $25. Shade also reported that anyone interested in procuring grain for the feeding of wildlife can obtain it at the Game commission's crib on State Lands, No. 178, near Highland Heights. The crib will be open between one p. m. until 4 p. m. Saturday.

Proposals to amend the Game code were in the state legislature hoppers today, as follows:

Blass (R) Erie: would change hunting license period from October 1 to September 1.

Hare (R) Somerset: would increase the resident hunters' license fee from $2 to $3.65; non-residents' fees, $15 to $25.

Another bill, if passed, will eliminate the fixed number of persons out for deer, in hunting parties. The fixed number of bear hunters in each party would be retained.

Also mentioned in this proposal, is an increase in fines for killing illegal bear, from $100 to $200. (It already has passed the senate.) Another measure to be acted on in the house, would provide a maximum expenditure of $2,500, if passed "for any damage done to auto by striking a deer."

Other proposals include one to amend game laws to provide a year-around open season on woodchucks; another would compel the game commission to pay a bounty of $4 for each fox killed, except in counties where fox killing is banned.

ROLLER-HOCKEY AT ARENA SUNDAY WILL BE EXCITING

Youngstown Pros Will Play Yellowjackets At 4 O'Clock At Arena Floor

Big time roller-hockey returns to New Castle Sunday when the New Castle Yellowjackets will play the Youngstown Professionals at the Arena on Grove street at 4 o'clock.

The Yellowjackets played a tie 2-2 game with the same team at Youngstown Thursday night in a peculiar manner, the Youngstown team started out with five amateurs and wound up with five old-time professional players opposing them. Even though it was unfair, Coach Lee Stoops of the locals consented to play.

Modern Roller-Polo This is not a league game but an exhibition game to keep the jackets in shape for the loop contests ahead of them.

Many of the older people of New Castle can remember when roller-polo was a big-time sport here at the old Liberty theatre site, in the days of the memorable Ted Lewis and company.

Lee Stoops, Clarence Frampton, Angelo Janacone, Harold Oberlightner, and Benny Price are some of the local roller-hockey players. This is the most exciting of sports, there are few dull moments once the game is under way. The admission is fifty cents.

Following is the standing of the Western Pennsylvania Roller-Hockey league:

	W	L	Pct.
New Castle	3	3	0 1.000
Glassport	1	1	.500
Bridgeville	0	1	.000

Coach Franny Websters team looked the part of champions as they came back off a 16 to 14 first period deficit, to lead at the half 20 to 21. The third period found the Mounties whaling them in for 15 more points to make it 45 to 36 at the third stanza closed.

Bill Emery, "Timmy" Hutchison and Garrett were other high scorers in the game besides the Kerr lad.

TITANS PLAYING At Kent State

Westminster Hopes To Repeat Win Over Ohioans, Johnny Abraham Impressive At Thiel

Fresh from an 85-75 win over Thiel college Tuesday night, a fast-stepping Westminster college five continues its campaign to win away from home as well as home tonight when the Titans meet the Golden Flashes of Kent State at Kent, O.

The Towering Titans opened their season with a 64-50 victory over Kent here but since then the Ohio quintet has rebounded and now claims 13 victories. The Flashes' hopes for revenge are encouraged by the fact that all four Westminster losses were suffered away from home.

Abraham Impressive Freshman John Abraham was impressive in the Thiel win. The hard-fighting forward had his big night of the season as he tallied 27 points to pace the Titans. Guard Don McCullough helped the Blue and White scoring spree along with 24 points.

Titans hopes were also bolstered Tuesday with the brief appearance of forward Bruce Wagner. Wagner dropped in two field goals in the five minutes he played, his first appearance since suffering an ankle injury a month ago. He is expected to play at least part of the Kent game.

Westminster's swimming team, with a record of two wins and one loss, returns to action Monday afternoon when the Thiel tank squad comes here, then meets Grove City here Tuesday afternoon. Saturday afternoon the Titan tankmen meet Pitt at Pittsburgh.

TWO GOOD LOOP GAMES TONIGHT

There are two good games listed for the City-County basketball league tonight at the Washington high floor, the first game at 7:30 o'clock, will find the Wampum Merchants battling the Elks.

In the second game a rivalry tussle the Ecclesian Club will play the Eagles. Indications are that a large crowd will see these two fine contests tonight.

Harold M. Foster, Fair Lawn, N. J., tackle on the Lehigh University football squad, is this year's recipient of the American Chemical Society award, given to the highest ranking member of the junior class.
